PARISH NEWS
AUGUST 2012

THE PARISHES OF BRANDESTON AND KETTLEBURGH

Dear Friends,

August is a month for holidays. It is time to get life back into balance again, escaping those bad feelings about the past as well as those worries about what the future holds.

That's why I want to write about the importance of living in the present - the importance of living each day as it comes, and of seeing and appreciating TODAY as we experience it. To do this is to give each day its true value.

This seems to me to be particularly important this year. As a nation, we've been putting a lot of energy into looking both backwards and forwards this year. The effect of doing so can lead us to think of both past and future events in terms of good and bad, "success" or "failure", of heroism or disaster.

A few examples: The Queen's Diamond Jubilee has given us all an opportunity to recall our own experiences during the sixty years of the Queen's reign; this year has been the thirtieth anniversary of the Falklands; and more topically, there's a plethora of headline-catching Enquiries are going looking at, for instance, the Media, or the behaviour of certain banks. Whether or not we were ourselves touched by these events as they happened, we may find ourselves dredging through our own memories of the past, asking ourselves, "Did it really happen like that? Was that really what they did?"

On the other hand, we've also been encouraged to look forward; the Olympic torch's visit to Wickham Market was certainly intended to awaken our excitement? The athlete's training and preparation requires them single-mindedly to focus on their "event"; are we swept up in that excitement, preparing to greet our Olympic heroes with adulation or be depressed by their failure? Or do we feel stifled by the wall-to-wall media-coverage? Is there no escape from the alternative evaluations of roaring success or expensive flop? Is there a median point between exuberant delight and crushing disappointment?

It seems that the antidote to this exhausting roller coaster ride of extremes is simply to live each moment as it comes and each day as it happens.

To live in this way helps us value each other for what we are to each other, and value each day for what we can do in it. It gives us the stability to meet success and achievement with simplicity, and the strength to live through the trials and disappointments of life as we meet them. To live in this way enables us to cherish each day for the gift of life that it contains, and hold on to a sense of purpose in our lives. All of us need this, whether "Faith" or Religion does or does not have a place in our lives.

Wherever this August takes you, I hope each day will bring you relaxation, renewal and a sense of peace.

With my best wishes

Robin Alderson

GREEK AFTERNOON

With the Olympic games taking place in London and many of us disappointed at not getting a ticket, Brandeston has decided to hold its very own event. At lunchtime on Sunday, 19 August, from 12:30 for 1:00 in marquees on the playing field, there will be a three course Greek-themed meal with music, dancing and organised games with gold, silver and bronze medals for children and adults. A bar will be provided. Tickets are £10 (£5 for children under 12) and will be available from the Coffee Morning and Pat Morgan (685378). This is your chance to enjoy the last of the British summer outdoors – and win your very own medal or cup.

Half of the money raised goes to our own church and the other half goes to the Suffolk Historic Churches Trust (where we can apply for grants towards repairs). Below is the list for the Loes area for the last 4 years of money raised.

FROM THE REGISTERS

MUFFY'S WEDDING

On 9th June Muffy Katherine Claire Booth (Kettleburgh) married Neil Ross Wesley (Hintlesham) at the Melton Registry Office, Lindos Centre, Saddlemakers Lane, Melton. A super lunch and venue for photos was provided by The Chequers at Kettleburgh, and there was a Big Party in the evening at Brandeston Village Hall. Dress was smart casual, but the bride wore an elegant full length white dress which had black lace over the bodice and one diagonal layer of black lace on the skirt. The couple did a rumba for their first dance, achieved after several formal lessons and lots of stepping on toes during practice sessions. (The bride's dress kept the toes out of the way on the night.)

Guests included friends and relations from all over England, and the bride's grandparents from Canada and Neil's friends from Italy. Unfortunately some close relations were unable to attend at the last minute due to ill health.

A quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at Brandeston church just before the evening party, so it could be heard from the village hall. All the ringers came for a drink afterwards. Each of the ringers had known the bride since she was a baby, so it was a very special quarter.

The couple live in Hove, near Brighton. Muffy works in HR for an NHS Health Trust, and Neil is a designer working for a company who specialise in kitchens and staircases.

GLADYS (DENA) ATKINSON

On Saturday 7th July we buried Dena's ashes in Brandeston churchyard; they were buried in her daughter's, Judy Prime's, grave.

Dena was the Prime family's grandmother; the family lived in the Old Chapel, Brandeston, for a long time in the 70's and 80's. Judy (known as Jude) died in 1993 following a long illness.

Dena was known and loved by many people in Suffolk and fifteen people gathered around the grave, as they thanked God for her life. Dena died on 25th November 2011 (aged 93 years) in a Residential home in Winchester. She was the grandmother of Simon, Mike and Vikki – we send them our sympathy, our love and our prayers. May she rest in peace. GV

PAST EVENTS

BRANDESTON FETE

It didn't rain at this year's fete – the first dry one since we moved to the Queen's Head. Unfortunately, though, the wind was the strongest it's ever been on fete day. There were running repairs on several tents but that didn't stop the crowds from coming and joining in the fun. We had the usual mix of stalls plus some new ones and all contributed to raising £4,459 for All Saints and the village hall.

The Tug of War was good fun yet again except that Brandeston's men lost their title to a well organised Rest of the World team. Enough said about that – let's move on to the Ladies team. In their first year at the fete, Brandeston's women showed the men exactly how it should be done by beating another really strong Rest of the World team. Rumours that the women are considering challenging Brandeston's men next year haven't been denied.

In the children's Tug of War, it was difficult to work out where the children were from but there were definitely some Brandeston children on the winning side - as there were on the losing side. They looked as if they could beat the men as well, actually.

Thanks to everyone who ran a stall or game on the day, all who helped prepare for the fete and who tidied up afterwards, to Brandeston Hall School for lending us their PA system and to Ollie Coote at the Queen's Head for allowing us to hold the fete in his gardens.

KETTLEBURGH FETE 2012

Any village fete, usually an annual event, takes shape over many months and develops a momentum of its own. In Kettleburgh this year, planning began in March. The committee was made up of representatives from the Church and the Village Hall, traditionally the two village organisations that benefit from the financial results. Meetings were held in the Chequers, a fitting venue as it is in the garden that the fete is held. Each year, as well as continuing all the ever popular traditional stalls, the committee try to find a novel attraction and this year it was decided to ask Iain Sanderson at Kettleburgh Hall to display his prototype electric sports car. In the event this car was substituted for a V8 – one of only six ever to be produced. It made a stunning impression on the meadow beside the tranquil River Deben, alongside the temporary bridge that lead from the car park and the field where the cowpat was to be deposited.

Another important aspect of planning is publicity. As well as roadside posters and our larger than life fete figures, notices in the local press, in shops, online and on air, publicity is promoted by selling draw and cowpat tickets in Framlingham. Donations for the Grand Draw do not appear without a great deal of effort and this year over 90 individuals and organisations were contacted, resulting in a magnificent array of prizes.

As the day itself approaches checks on the weather forecast become ever more frequent, as well as endless emails and phone calls to ensure that there will be enough willing hands and feet to carry out all the preparations. Gazebos and marquees appear like topsy, the goods collected around the village get sorted and transported from the Village Hall to the pub, scaffolding and tarpaulins frame the stalls where throwing and kicking are the aim, cakes are cooked, bottles are arranged and ticketed for the tombola, plants are potted and labelled, and again, the forecast is checked....

So finally, as 4:00p.m approached, all the stall holders were ready for two hours of selling their wares, music drifted across the public address and our MP Dr Dan Poulter arrived, with his donation to the Grand Draw of a signed bottle of House of Commons whisky, to open our fete. By 6:00p.m the cake and bottle tombola stalls were empty, there were some very wet faces and T-shirts from the Wet Sponge sideshow, a few lucky people carried coconuts, lots of photos had been taken and everyone was ready to find out if they had been lucky as prize giving began. Only a couple of spots of rain fell during the fete, but as the forecast suggested something more serious overnight, a stalwart few remained in the garden to clear away. This made the work on Sunday morning that much easier and quicker, so that by lunchtime the garden was almost restored to normal. There are far too many names to mention for thanks at such an event, and of course we are also grateful to all those visitors from outside the village who attend.

The final result this year was £3035.31. You will be able to see the accounts and lots of photos of the day on the village website. The date for next year has been fixed for Saturday 8th June.

MALAWI 2012

Sue Tobin and her children, John and Jane, have returned after their 5th annual visit to Malawi. As Brandeston and Kettleburgh have supported their efforts with the Nansambo School project and the Mua Mission Hospital it was thought people might like to know what was happening now.

The family had an excited welcome by the school and were greeted by the Group Village Headman, Chief Kamoto, the Nansambo Minister, the Rev. Jeffrey Asidi among other dignitories. After touring the school and speaking with the Teaching Assistants they had funded, regular staff and children, the supplies brought were formally handed over. This was done in public so all knew it had been donated which helps with accountability for the gifts given.

These included stationary, 2250 (60 page) exercise books, 2500 pencils, 200 rulers, 200 erasers and 300 biros, together with 29 footballs and netballs. Over 700 books were also given, approximately 240 teaching books for Maths, Science and English together with just under 500 story books in both Chicewa, the main local language and English, the official language. Some of these will form a library.

Sue and her family were entertained by the children who sang and read poetry in English whilst the younger ones performed traditional dances. Another day was spent at the hospital where donations of medicines, first aid kits and knitted babywear were given.

At the moment Sue's fund is concentrating on education which is so important if the young are to realise their potential in the future. The plans for 2012-2013 are:-

1. To sponsor 4 more pupils, making a total of 12, who pass the Primary School Examination to attend the Balamanja Secondary School.
2. To pay 4 full-time Teaching Assistants and review the level of funding for them in light of the devaluation of the Kwacha currency.
3. Continue to provide regular supplies of stationary items to the Nansambo Primary School..
4. Now that a Nansambo library has been started, books to add if the ones already provided are looked after.

All this together with the re-painting and minor repair work of the 5 classrooms and 2 toilet blocks previously built by the Fund, and a programme of annual maintenance and repair of the borehole to provide fresh, clean water.

We have also been given a wonderful wooden carved Bible to join the ebony Nativity Figures, the Mulombaw Noah's Ark and the World. It is incredible how people who live in one of the poorest countries are able to produce such a high standard of workmanship which we would find hard to follow.
