

BRANDESTON AND KETTLEBURGH
PARISH NEWS
FEBRUARY 2018

As I write this letter we've just taken down the Christmas tree, and the lights that have brightened our villages are being packed away for next year; village evenings will be much darker now. Christmas is only just past and the children have returned to school but it is also only a few weeks to Shrove Tuesday (or Pancake Day) and Ash Wednesday, and into the special time of Lent.

Thinking about Pancake Day brings me onto one of my favourite subjects-food. At this time of year we are constantly hearing wanted and unwanted advice about different ideas of healthy eating and fitness. We feel guilty when we see people jogging past our houses or going off for their sessions at the pool or the gym. Should we go vegan to save the planet as well as our bodies, or should we just cut down a bit and go for an extra walk every week? All these regimes require one thing: self-discipline.

Discipline is something we need in all areas of our life. As Lent approaches, the theme of spiritual discipline will be high on our agenda. It is a time to assess our spiritual health, rather like New Year is a time for diets and fitness. Lent gives us the opportunity to explore our faith more deeply, and to spend time getting to know Jesus. Just as we don't always pay enough attention to our physical health, we don't always think about our spiritual health. An hour a week in church and then back to normal life. Is that enough? Lent gives us the opportunity to explore our faith more deeply, and maybe get to grips with things that have been puzzling or troubling us.

We have the opportunity this Lent to work on our spiritual wellbeing. To spend time, informally, with other Christians in our parishes, thinking about our faith in a friendly and informal atmosphere under the guidance of Revd Richard Ginn. There will be five sessions on Wednesday afternoons, of about  $\frac{3}{4}$  hour each. Please look at Richard's letter in this magazine and do seriously consider joining us.

With best wishes,

Mary Baker

Invitation to the 2018 Lent Group -

This year, we will be looking at one of the Letters in the New Testament - the Letter of James. Although this is a short letter - it has lots to teach us about God and about the challenges that we face as Christians. It will be good to be able to spend time together being thoughtful and prayerful. We will be meeting in the committee room of Hacheston Village Hall at 3pm on 21st February and on the four Wednesdays following. Our meetings will last about three quarters of an hour. Please read the Letter of James before you come, and bring along whichever translation of the Bible that you prefer. Please also bring a pencil and paper. You never know, we might agree some homework!

Revd Richard Ginn

THANK YOU

Carol Singing and Christingles in Kettleburgh

Thank you to all who supported Kettleburgh's fund raising events for The Children's Society Christmas appeal. Their mission is:

‘to bring hope to children and young people during life's most desperate moments, helping them to build a better future.’

A total of £169.26 was raised - at our Christingle and Gift service, where we all made Christingles and also received gifts to be taken to the Ipswich charity FIND (Families in Need in Ipswich) - and on a cold and frosty Monday evening when a merry band of carol singers made their way around the village. Sorry if we didn't make it to your door!

Link to Hope - Shoebox Appeal 2017

Thank you to all who supported the shoebox appeal this year. Once again eighteen boxes in total were sent from Kettleburgh to Eastern European countries. We hope they brought some happiness to the families and older people who have so little at Christmas time.

Thank you

May I thank the residents of Brandeston responsible for the lovely, tasteful, display of decorations during the Christmas period. You really made an excellent job of brightening up a pretty murky month, far exceeding anything else I saw in Suffolk. Well done! Peter Driver

Kettleburgh village breakfast – Sunday 14th January 2018

What a great way to cheer up a dreary, damp Sunday. We had a good turn out with customers from the village, Easton, Ipswich and as far away as Worlingworth and High Wycombe! Thanks to Heidi, Chris, Martin and Linda who did a fabulous job in the kitchen. And to Katherine, Helen, Hannah and Amber for front of house. Persephone Booth won the lovely hamper of goodies in the raffle. All the money from the event after expenses such as hall hire and food will go to the Kettleburgh Green Trust to keep it looking beautiful.

The Kettleburgh Pantomime

The Kettleburgh Players will be returning in 2018 with another mad-cap pantomime to keep you all amused.

At the moment we are not sure what the panto is going to be, but you can expect singing, dancing, high jinx's and lots of slapstick fun and games.

Auditions will take place at Kettleburgh Village Hall on Thursday 11th January at 6.30pm, with rehearsals every Thursday at the same time.

Please note the NEW performance dates are Wednesday 21st March – Saturday 24th March.

If you are interested in taking part or would like to be involved please feel free to turn up on the night or contact me on 01728 685303.

I look forward to seeing you

People With A Passion

The next talk in this series will be on Thursday 22nd February. Because of a clash of dates, we have had to swap the Channel Tunnel and the Antarctica talks so that the programme is now:

22 February - Terry Robinson: The Channel Tunnel: Not Just a Boring Story. A view from the inside.

22 March - Steve Western: Antarctica ... there and back again to see how cold it was.

26 April - Martin and Kathy Churchill: Safari Experience – get up close and personal.

As usual, entry is £5 (£2 for students) at the door which includes a welcome drink and some nibbles. Meet from 7:45 and the talk will start promptly at 8:00. The presentation lasts for around 45 minutes and after questions, there will be a cash bar so that people will be able to mingle and chat.

Thanks for continuing to support these evenings. I already have some people lined up for next winter and spring but I'm still looking for a few more volunteers so get in touch if you have something you can talk about.

Suffolk Emigration to Canada

Part 2

The Act of Home Government of 1834 allowed villages to mortgage their rates and provide assisted passage for pauper families with most of the money being repaid by Government. Emigration agents were appointed to supervise the paper work. (Our area agent was Mr Noller of Debenham). The Revered Geo Turner and the overseers sold the local people the idea. Families who had emigrated previously were communicating with those still in the villages, convincing them that it was a good move. What had a poor family got to lose? Their meagre existence couldn't get much worse.

Early settlers were allocated a parcel of heavily wooded land which they had to clear and build their family a cabin. It is very likely that they had help from Canadians. Letters exist to show that families were lodged in existing homes whilst the building work was proceeding. Winters were very much colder than the emigrants were used to and they were not prepared for the extreme cold they met. The Atkins family from Kettleburgh, who sailed at the end of the 19th century talked of having to cut bread with an axe in winter. They came back after a few years, defeated, they said, by the conditions. Those who stayed went on to make productive farmsteads and many became successful business men.

William Leggat, writing to his parents in Framlingham in 1872 gave us an idea of his life. "I lodge with my master getting up at 10 minutes to six. We do not work as hard here as we did at home, even the sowing of grain is done by horses. We cut and bind all our grain using a machine using two horses to pull it and one wagon. The horses we use are more like carriage horses, much lighter than yours. The barley comes before the wheat, then peas, we do not grow beans. We do not carry our victuals to the field but go to the master's house where we all sit at the same table. The people are very good here and will not see you want for anything. I had more meat given me in one week than I could have bought in three years in England. I can go to the butchers and have all the sheep and calf "plucks" (1) I want and all free, for they fling them out for the pigs. When I told the butcher how much we had to pay at home, he gave me two lambs plucks, a calf head and other meat. Even the poorest man keeps a cow."(Abridged. P.D.) Although William's experience is much later than the earlier emigrants, we get the feeling that this infant community really pulled together and helped each other to a much better life than they had known.

Wilda was corresponding with the Waun family (a corruption of Warne) in Arizona. Gordon tells me that quite a few Suffolk families eventually made their way south to settle in the U.S.A. I think what we can assume is that most of our poor Brandeston and Kettleburgh families went on to better themselves and make a much better life for their families in their new world. Peter Driver.

Note 1. "pluck" the Suffolk term for what is loosely referred to as offal.

(Much of this work has come from research done by the late Wilda Woodland to whom I owe a large amount of gratitude.)
